

Gardiner Green Aesthetics: As typical, the Concept Phase sets the direction for the project, but that the details will continue to evolve with input from both the town of Gardiner (Planning Board and the Zoning Board) as well as Engineering (mechanical and structural). This is a rather lengthy design process where the Architect continues to accommodate and inform both the aesthetic and the physical constraints. We look forward to working with the town of Gardiner, ME as we finalize both the Design Development and the Construction Documents phases of this exciting project.

Photographs of Louis Kahn's Salk Institute, San Diego, CA